

THE TORAH CODES

For Your Review

THE TORAH CODES

A 375 PAGE THRILLER
BY EZRA BARANY

Dear Mr. Buster,

My bestselling thriller The Torah Codes is a Jewish version of The Da Vinci Code.

A reclusive computer programmer, Nathan Yirmorshy, pounds out ones and zeros in the quiet of his home while his landlord secretly watches from behind a two-way mirror. When an intercepted note connects the landlord to a secret society, and a detective ends up dead, Nathan must abandon his home and everything familiar to him, open his heart to a tarot reader he has never met, and trust her with his life—just as the ancient scriptures have foretold.

Thank you for your consideration of reviewing my thriller. Feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Ezra

Here's what people are saying...

"This book is a page-turner that I found very difficult to put down. The book has kind of a Dan Brown Da Vinci Code feel to it. The appendix is good reading as well as food for thought and should not be skipped. The author is donating a portion of the book sales to the San Francisco Bay Area Jewish Schools. A good book and helping a good cause is a winning combination!" A.R. Cook, The Book Review

"The pages seem to turn themselves. But what the book really is, in the end, is a bit of well-packaged theology. What truly drives the book is not the cleverness, determination, courage, cowardice, or contrivances of any of the characters. Rather, the book is really about who Nathan and his girlfriend are meant to be. The force behind the book is a strain of Jewish mysticism that allows for coincidence and fate. Underlying it all is the faith that, in spite of everything, God wills us to live in righteousness. In reading the book I learned something new about religious belief, got something to think about, and had a great time in the process." Jonathan Berman, Amazon Customer